TOWN OF HOPKINTON

www.hopkinton.org

The town's official website. Click on "Government" then "Planning" for reports, plans, and meeting minutes related to development and planning issues. Click on "Town Clerk" to get your fish-and-game license.

GREYHOUND FRIENDS

www.greyhound.org

Want to live with an elite athlete? In some circles, Hopkinton is best known as the home to Greyhound Friends, a nonprofit dedicated to placing retired racetrack greyhounds in homes where the only thing the humans can bet on is the sweet nature of their newly adopted runner.

METROFUTURE

www.metrofuture.org

MetroFuture is an initiative of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council. Find resources, data, and good old-fashioned advocacy for a regional plan for metropolitan Boston.

NORMAL ROOM

www.normalroom.com

"See how people live around the world! Explore the variety of lifestyles and cultural peculiarities!" For anyone who has ever wondered what really goes on behind the closed doors of suburbia, a site that lets you indulge architectural voyeurism on a global scale.

ZIPSKINNY

www.zipskinny.com

"Get the skinny on that ZIP!" A dangerously absorbing site. Plunk in a zipcode and get all kinds of demographic data and comparisons to other communities.

FLOATING PODIUM

www.floatingpodium.com

Just what you've been looking for: an "aggregator" of blogs discussing architecture, design, sustainability, and urbanism.

CYBURBIA

www.cyburbia.org

The online community for planners. As you might imagine, it's civil, helpful, respectful, and collaborative. Not to mention useful — check out the thread on how to pass the time at public hearings.

We're always looking for intriguing websites — however unplanned the connection to architecture. Send your candidates to: epadjen@architects.org.
