About the Boston Society of Architects/AIA

The Boston Society of Architects/AIA (BSA) is committed to professional development for its members, advocacy on behalf of great design and—together with its sister organization, the BSA Foundation—sharing an appreciation for the built environment with the public at large. Established in 1867, the BSA today consists of nearly 4,000 members and produces a diverse array of programs and publications, including ArchitectureBoston Expo and ArchitectureBoston magazine. A chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the BSA is a nonprofit, professional-service organization. For more information, visit architects.org.

About BSA Design Awards

Each year the BSA, often in collaboration with other organizations, sponsors award programs to honor design excellence in Massachusetts, throughout New England, and elsewhere. All winners are announced at the annual BSA Design Awards Gala. Calls for submission to the 2016 program will open in early February. For a full list of awards and their schedules, visit architects.org/awards.

2015 Design Awards Categories

Interior Architecture/Interior Design Awards; Campus and Urban Planning Awards; Unbuilt Architecture and Design; Honor Awards for Design Excellence; BSA Award of Honor; Earl R. Flansburgh Young Architects Award; Harleston Parker Medal; and People's Choice Award.

Award Hierarchy

Honor Awards: the highest awards. These projects are the “best of the best.” Each one elevated the hearts and minds of our juries by expressing both technical and aesthetic design excellence.

Awards: admirable and innovative work that is successfully executed from concept through construction.

Citations: those projects that caught the jury's eye for design, technical, humanitarian, or other reasons but were not formally awarded.

BSA Award of Honor

This honor is given to individuals whose lifetime contributions to the profession and to the BSA have been uncommonly profound.

Earl R. Flansburgh Young Architects Award

This new award recognizes design excellence by an architect under 40. The award is named for Earl R. Flansburgh FAIA, a distinguished Boston architect who generously supported emerging professionals and advocated for women architects. This award is co-sponsored by the Flansburgh Family.

The Harleston Parker Medal

The Harleston Parker Medal award was established in 1921 by J. Harleston Parker in memory of his father. The first award was granted by the BSA in 1923. The intent of the award is to acknowledge the "single' most beautiful building or other structure" built in the metropolitan Boston area in the past 10 years.

People's Choice Award

An online competition organized by the BSA and hosted by bostonmagazine.com where members of the public go head-to-head with the 2015 Harleston Parker Medal jury to decide which among this year's finalists is the most beautiful building in Boston. The winner is announced at the BSA Design Awards Gala.
