

The Boston Society of Architects (BSA) is one of the most active and vibrant chapters of the American Institute of Architects (AIA). We advocate for our local architects, A/E/C professionals and for communities creating good design all across the Greater Boston area.

The BSA's professional community consists of nearly 4,000 members, 11,000 magazine readers, 10,000 conference attendees, and 7,500 program participants.

What is Professional affiliate membership?

Professional affiliate membership is for industry professionals and design firm staff members who wish to join the region's architects in sustaining and energizing its robust and healthy design community.

The BSA brings together individuals working in the building industry—including human resources professionals, marketing and finance professionals; landscape architects; interior designers; lawyers and consultants—through an array of networking opportunities and special events.

“My BSA membership has proven invaluable. The resources the BSA offers are unsurpassed.”

Sheila Selby, interior designer, On The Move Interiors
