2019 BSA Award of Honor

Kyu Sung Woo FAIA

Kyu Sung Woo FAIA was born in Seoul, Korea and received a Bachelor of Science and Master of Science in Architectural Engineering at Seoul National University. He came to the United States in 1967, where he studied architecture at Columbia University receiving a Master of Architecture in 1968. Mr. Woo then received a Master of Architecture in Urban Design at Harvard University in 1970.

After graduation he worked closely with Josep Lluís Sert at Sert, Jackson & Associates (1970–1974). He was an Urban Design Consultant for Harbison New Town, South Carolina (1973–1980), senior Urban Designer for the Mayor's office of Midtown Planning and Development, New York, NY (1975), founded Woo Associates in 1978, Principal of Woo and Williams (1979–1990), and Principal of Kyu Sung Woo Architects, Inc. in 1990, where he has continued his focus on creative design solutions in the United States and abroad. During his architectural career Mr. Woo has built extensively, with many major design works implemented, including the 1988 Olympic Village in Seoul, Korea.

The work of Kyu Sung Woo has been reviewed in numerous architectural publications in Asia, Europe, and the United States including The Boston Globe, The New York Times, Newsweek and The Wall Street Journal. In addition, three books profiling his work, Casas and Whanki Museum, have been published. Mr. Woo has taught at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at Harvard University, and won the Ho Am Prize in the Arts in 2008. Kyu Sung Woo is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects.

2019 BSA Commonwealth Award

This year's recipient is YouthBuild Boston (YBB) for its commitment to community design and preparing Boston's youth for meaningful employment, particularly in the building industry.

YBB was founded in 1990 with the goal of providing underserved young people with the support and credentials needed to successfully enter the building trades. While YBB promotes the core values of youth development and community service, it stands out as an innovative non-profit offering a hands-on approach to building trades training. Its programs provide opportunities in vocational education, counseling, and other life skills that readily strengthen and prepare students for the workforce upon graduation

2019 BSA Honorary Membership

This year's recipients is Robert Benson, architectural photographer, in recognition of his commitment to collaboration and the advancement of the AEC industry.

Robert has been an architectural photographer for over thirty years, running a national and international business, and supported by a studio and staff of five people, led by his wife Wendy. Robert summarizes his approach to work as follows: "...no matter how much the technology changes, it still comes down to knowing where to stand, and how to create meaningful, well-composed images that advance the narrative of the building's design philosophy. My greatest satisfaction comes when I create an image that the architect finds surprising and revealing. And if we can have fun while doing it, all the better."

About the Boston Society of Architects/AIA

The Boston Society of Architects/AIA (BSA/AIA) is the eastern Massachusetts chapter of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and is New England's largest building industry association. Established in 1867, the BSA/AIA, with more than 4,500 members, is the second largest chapter of the AIA. The BSA/AIA produces a diverse array of programs and editorial content focused on keeping the profession strong, creating thought leadership, and providing a forum for conversation, discovery, and debate about design. The BSA/AIA, together with the BSA Foundation, make up the Boston Society for Architecture, a diverse community committed to improving the quality of life for everyone through architecture and design. About the BSA Design Awards

Each year the BSA, often in collaboration with other organizations, sponsors award programs to honor design excellence in Massachusetts, throughout New England, and elsewhere. All winners are announced at the annual BSA Design Awards Gala. The call for entries to the 2020 programs will be released in February. For a full list of awards and their schedules, visit architects.org/programs/awards.

Awards Definition

Honor Awards: the highest awards. These projects are the “best of the best.” Each one elevated the hearts and minds of our juries by expressing both technical and aesthetic design excellence.

Awards: admirable and innovative work that is successfully executed from concept through construction.

Citations: those projects that caught the jury’s eye for design, technical, humanitarian, or other reasons.

Harleston Parker Medal

The Harleston Parker Medal award was established in 1921 by J. Harleston Parker in memory of his father. The first award was granted by the BSA in 1923. The intent of the award is to acknowledge the “single most beautiful building or other structure” built in the metropolitan Boston area in the past 10 years. The award is co-sponsored by the City of Boston.

People’s Choice Award

An online competition organized by the BSA where members of the public go head-to-head with the Harleston Parker Medal jury to decide which among the Harleston Parker finalists is the most beautiful new structure in the Boston.

BSA Award of Honor

This honor is given to individuals whose lifetime contributions to the profession and to the BSA have been uncommonly profound.

BSA Commonwealth Award

The purpose of this award is to recognize an outstanding influence on Boston’s built environment or the community’s awareness of it.

BSA Honorary Membership

The purpose of this award is to honor an individual whose contributions to the Boston design community are of outstanding significance and value.
