About the Boston Society of Architects/AIA

The Boston Society of Architects/AIA (BSA/AIA) is the eastern Massachusetts chapter of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and is New England's largest building industry association. Established in 1867, the BSA is the second largest chapter of the AIA with more than 4,500 members. The BSA is dedicated to strengthening the profession by producing a diverse array of programs and editorial content to push thought leadership in architecture and providing forums for conversation, discovery, and debate about design. The BSA community is committed to improving the quality of life for everyone through architecture and design. By hosting professional and youth education programs, fostering community engagement and membership networks, and initiating civic transformation, the BSA is making this a region where architects thrive and communities flourish.
