Call for Entries: New Visions of Designed Environments Photography Exhibition
Deadline: March 15, 2019.

BSA Space, Boston's leading center for architecture and design extends an open invitation to artists to submit photography that represents new, creative perspectives on the built or designed environment for the upcoming juried show New Visions of Designed Environments on display from June 4, 2019 through January 3, 2020.

New Visions of Designed Environments will mark the first in a five-year series of rotating photography exhibitions that will take place at BSA Space in the Storefront Gallery and second floor conference rooms. Exhibitions are expected to change every six months and will feature a roster of photographers exploring themes related to architecture, the built environment, and the power of design to transform and improve people's lives.

Open through midnight on March 15, 2019, this call seeks widely diverse points of view and is open to all photographers, regardless of affiliation with the BSA/AIA or BSA Foundation.
