New Visions of Designed Environments Photography Exhibition

On view: June 4, 2019–January 3, 2020

New Visions of Designed Environments marks the first in a five-year series of rotating photography exhibitions that will take place at BSA Space in the Storefront Gallery and second floor conference rooms. Exhibitions are expected to change every six months and will feature a roster of photographers exploring themes related to architecture, the built environment, and the power of design to transform and improve people's lives.

This juried photo exhibition features photography that represents new, creative perspectives on the built or designed environment. New Visions of Designed Environments is on display from June 4, 2019 through January 3, 2020.

The open call for proposals sought widely diverse points of view and was open to all photographers, regardless of affiliation with the BSA/AIA or BSA Foundation. The entries were juried by Meghan Melvin, Christine O'Donnell, and Peter Vanderwarker.

All displayed artwork will be for sale for the duration of the exhibition at the BSA Space Photo Galleries.

The opening reception will take place Thursday, June 6, 2019 at 6:00 pm at BSA Space.
